

Torean Literature/Art Contest: Tokens of Affection

:icontoreans: is proud to announce its first contest!

Whether you're an author or a painter, good with 3-D renders or photographs, you're invited to submit an original piece of work for the chance to win 1000 :points:!

Theme: Tokens of Affection

What does the phrase "tokens of affection" conjure up in your mind, when you think of Torei?

Do you imagine a collar given as a gift to a lover? How about the gift of an attractive slave? Are you compelled to depict an act of tenderness, striking a contrast against the cruel planet? Perhaps the phrase reminds you of the oldest profession?

Whatever your interpretation, your submission must clearly be set in the Torei universe. The work should also be new for the contest.

Categories: Words or Images

There will be two parallel categories for submissions: words and images.

There will be a 1000 :points: prize in each category, and participants may submit one entry to each category (for a total of two submissions). A talented polymath might walk home with 2000 :points:!

Deadline: 14 February 2013

The submission deadline is one minute past midnight GMT on Valentine's Day, 14 February 2013. Voting will then open later that day.

How to submit

To submit your work, propose it for an :icontoreans: group :+fav: favourite in the Tokens of Affection Contest category, or send your deviation's URL to :icongospodin: and ask him to add it.